

Sensory Path and Mural

By Sarah Gregori and Sabrina Cohen

5 facts about the sensory path

- It makes me feel ecstatic!!!
- It has a whole bunch of different shapes like circles, triangles and squares
- It has many different colors like purple, pink, blue, green and red
- If you are having a bad day you can go to the sensory path and it can help you feel better
- When you go there you can have fun

Pictures of our sensory path

Who created the sensory path?

The person who created the sensory path is Olivia Asenio. She is a Girl Scout and the sensory path is her Silver Award project. The sensory path was made in February, 2019.

What the sensory path is used for

The sensory path is used for relaxing your mind and activating your senses.

If you are having a bad day you can go to the hallway that the sensory path is in and relax.

Pictures of our Pasadena mural!

How did we create the mural?

We first used bottle caps to put paper into the caps. Then we wrote our names in it. We all took turns doing this step. Next, we glued the caps on the board. The mural said “Eat the rainbow.” We recycled the bottle caps from food and drinks.

What is good about the mural and how it impacts Earth

The bottle caps that we recycled came from our drink and food containers. This is super good for our earth, because it is where we live and we need to take care of our home. 😊

Thanks for stopping by thank you

