

Superintendent's Highlight of the Week

May 15, 2015

This week we highlight the amazing production of Shrek the Musical that blazed across our stage at the Howard B. Mattlin Middle School. Under the direction of Tom Bonica and his drama cadets, this year's cast and crew produced three outstanding performances that were well attended (in fact sold out) by the community.

The production reflected the endless hours these students poured into making it this event a tremendous success. One cannot imagine how much better our theatrical productions can get when each night the students achieved perfection. The talent came from all areas, singing, dancing, stage crew, set designs and spectacular costumes.

This year the students choose the theme “learning to be yourself and understanding that you are still special.” Such a great life lesson!
