

POB Student-Artists Featured in Statewide Show

Works Displayed at Annual NYSSBA Conference, Online

PLAINVIEW, NEW YORK (October, 2024)—The works of nine student-artists from the Plainview-Old Bethpage Central School District were recently featured in a statewide art exhibit. The artwork was on display both online and in person at the annual New York State School Boards Association (NYSSBA) Conference, which was held in New York City. It was a special opportunity for the District to showcase its talented student artists for school officials from across the state.

The student artists who had their works displayed were:

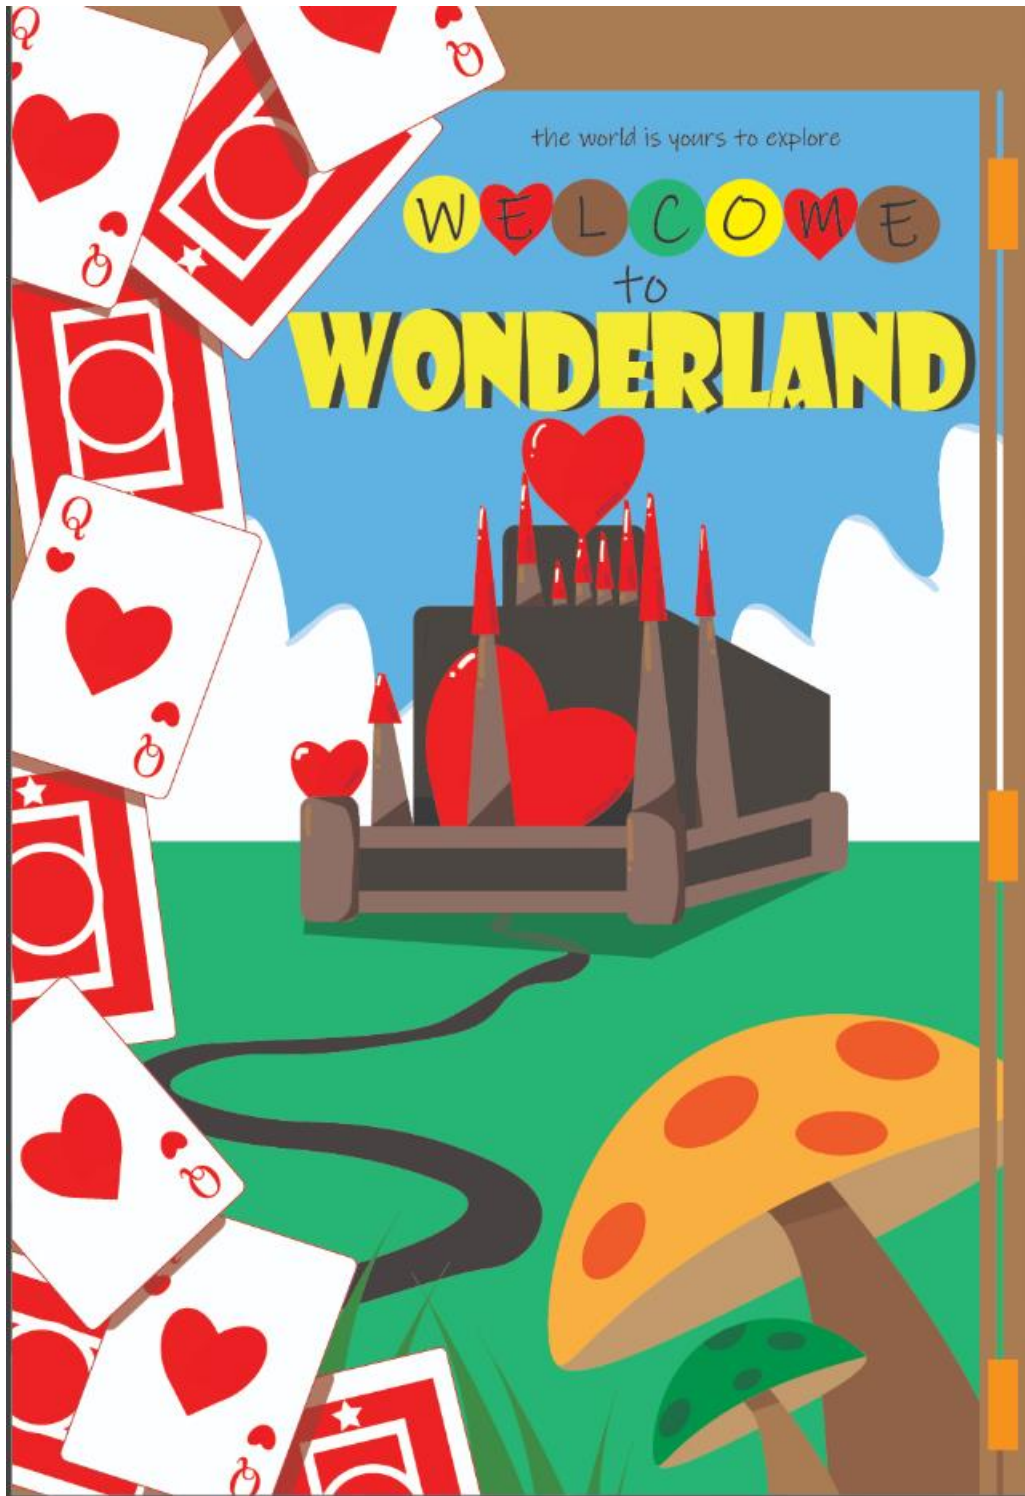

- Isabella Phass
- Celina Zheng
- Louis Deller
- Emma Klein
- Samantha Paradise
- Cali Yu
- Everett Lee
- Amelia Su
- Bethany George

"Each year, we are proud to showcase the works of our talented student artists for superintendents and school board members from across the state to enjoy at the annual NYSSBA conference," said Dr. Ben Wiley, Assistant Principal and Coordinator of Art for the Plainview-Old Bethpage School District. "From our youngest students to those preparing for graduation, our mission is to cultivate a love of art and nurture our students' talents, and participating in this showcase is one of the many ways we achieve that." The District appreciates the continued dedication of art teachers Linda Curran, Kelly Verdi, and Nirel Weinstein for inspiring students' artistic growth and success.
