

Tema: SPANISH 'AR' Verbs

-ar verbs

Verbs that end in -ar

Pregunta: How do we conjugate the verbs that end in -ar?

To conjugate a verb in the present tense, you replace the -ar ending with the following endings:

Yo	-o	Nosotros	-amos
Tú	-as
Él		Ellos
Ella	-a	Ellas	-an
Usted		Ustedes

EXAMPLE - Hablar – to speak

Yo      hablo      Nosotros    hablamos

Tú      hablas

Él                      Ellos
Ella    habla      Ellas      hablan
Usted                      Ustedes

SOME IMPORTANT NOTES ABOUT SPANISH VERBS

1. Verbs in Spanish end in either -ar, -er, or -ir.
2. The infinitive form of a verb is the verb with the -ar, -er, or -ir ending.

Examples: Hablar (to speak), Cantar (to sing), Bailar (to dance)
Comer (to eat), Beber (to drink)
Dormir (to sleep), Vivir (to live)

3. A verb has two parts - the stem and the ending.

Example:

HABLAR
(Stem) (Ending)

4. When you conjugate a verb, you change the infinitive verb according to the subject.

Infinitive form —————→ Conjugated form

Example: Necesitar – to need
(Infinitive form)

Yo necesito	Nosotros necesitamos
Tú necesitas
Él necesita	Ellos necesitan
Ella necesita	Ellas necesitan
Usted necesita	Ustedes necesitan

5. When you place two verbs next to each other in a row, you only conjugate the first verb.

Examples: Yo necesito estudiar. (I need to study.)
Él necesita decansar. (He needs to rest.)

6. To make a sentence negative, add 'no' in front of the conjugated verb.

Examples: Yo no miro la televisión. (I don't watch television.)
Nosotros no bailamos. (We don't dance.)

7. To form a question, insert the question marks and place the subject after the conjugated verbs or at the end of the question.

Examples: ¿Miras tú la televisión? / ¿Miras la televisión tú? (Do you watch television?)
¿Saca él buenas notas? / ¿Saca buenas notas él? (Does he get good grades?)
¿Baila Luis? (Does Luis dance?)
¿Baila Luis bien? / ¿Baila bien Luis? (Does Luis dance well?)

2.1

Present tense of -ar verbs

ANTE TODO

In order to talk about activities, you need to use verbs. Verbs express actions or states of being. In English and Spanish, the infinitive is the base form of the verb. In English, the infinitive is preceded by the word to: to study, to be. The infinitive in Spanish is a one-word form and can be recognized by its endings: -ar, -er, or -ir.

-ar verb
estudiar | to study

-er verb
comer | to eat

-ir verb
escribir | to write

- In this lesson, you will learn the forms of regular -ar verbs.

The verb estudiar (to study)

SINGULAR FORMS	yo tú Ud./él/ella	estudio estudias estudia	I study you (fam.) study you (form.) study; he/she studies
	nosotros/as vosotros/as Uds./ellos/ellas	estudiamos estudiáis estudian	we study you (fam.) study you (form.) study; they study

Juan Carlos estudia ciencias ambientales.

Y tú, ¿qué estudias, Miguel?

- To create the forms of most regular verbs in Spanish, drop the infinitive endings (-ar, -er, -ir). You then add to the stem the endings that correspond to the different subject pronouns. This diagram will help you visualize the process by which verb forms are created.

Conjugation of -ar verbs

INFINITIVE
estudiar
bailar
trabajar

VERB STEM
estudi- bail- trabaj-

CONJUGATED FORM
yo estudio
tú bailas
nosotros trabajamos

Common -ar verbs

bailar	to dance	estudiar	to study
buscar	to look for	explicar	to explain caminar	to walk	hablar	to talk; to speak
cantar	to sing	llegar	to arrive
cenar	to have dinner	llevar	to carry comprar	to buy	mirar	to look (at); to watch contestar	to answer	necesar (+ inf.)	to need conversar	to converse, to chat	practicar	to practice
desayunar	to have breakfast	preguntar	to ask (a question)
descansar	to rest	preparar	to prepare desear (+ inf.)	to desire; to wish	regresar	to return
dibujar	to draw	terminar	to end; to finish
enseñar	to teach	tomar	to take; to drink
escuchar	to listen (to)	trabajar	to work
esperar (+ inf.)	to wait (for); to hope	viajar	to travel

► ¡Atención! Unless referring to a person, the Spanish verbs buscar, escuchar, esperar, and mirar do not need to be followed by prepositions as do their English equivalents.

Busco la tarea.

I'm looking for the homework.

Espero el autobús.

I'm waiting for the bus.

Escucho la música.

I'm listening to the music.

Miro la pizarra.

I'm looking at the blackboard.

COMPARE &amp; CONTRAST

English uses three sets of forms to talk about the present: (1) the simple present (Paco works), (2) the present progressive (Paco is working), and (3) the emphatic present (Paco does work). In Spanish, the simple present can be used in all three cases.

Paco trabaja en la cafetería.

1. Paco works in the cafeteria.

2. Paco is working in the cafeteria.

3. Paco does work in the cafeteria.

In Spanish, the present tense is also sometimes used to express future action.

Marina viaja a Madrid mañana.

1. Marina travels to Madrid tomorrow.

2. Marina will travel to Madrid tomorrow.

3. Marina is traveling to Madrid tomorrow.

► When two verbs are used together with no change of subject, the second verb is generally in the infinitive. To make a sentence negative in Spanish, the word no is placed before the conjugated verb. In this case, no means not.

Deseo hablar con el señor Díaz.

I want to speak with Mr. Díaz.

Alicia no desea bailar ahora.

Alicia doesn't want to dance now.

- Spanish speakers often omit subject pronouns because the verb endings indicate who the subject is. In Spanish, subject pronouns are used for emphasis, clarification, or contrast.

—¿Qué enseñan? What do they teach?	—Ella enseña arte y él enseña física. She teaches art, and he teaches physics.
—¿Quién desea trabajar hoy? Who wants to work today?	—Yo no deseo trabajar hoy. I don't want to work today.

El verbo gustar

- Gustar is different from other -ar verbs. To express your likes and dislikes, use the expression (no) me gusta + el/la + [singular noun] or (no) me gustan + los/las + [plural noun]. Note: You may use the phrase a mí for emphasis, but never the subject pronoun yo.

Me gusta la música clásica.
I like classical music.

Me gustan las clases de español y biología.
I like Spanish and biology classes.

A mí me gustan las artes.
I like the arts.

A mí no me gusta el programa.
I don't like the program.

- To talk about what you like and don't like to do, use (no) me gusta + [infinitive(s)]. Note that the singular gusta is always used, even with more than one infinitive.

No me gusta viajar en autobús. Me gusta cantar y bailar.
I don't like to travel by bus. I like to sing and dance.

- To ask a classmate about likes and dislikes, use the pronoun te instead of me. Note: You may use a ti for emphasis, but never the subject pronoun tú.

—¿Te gusta la geografía?
Do you like geography?

—Sí, me gusta. Y a ti, ¿te gusta el inglés?
Yes, I like it. And you, do you like English?

- You can use this same structure to talk about other people by using the pronouns nos, le, and les. Unless your instructor tells you otherwise, only the me and te forms will appear on test materials until Lección 7.

Nos gusta dibujar. (nosotros)
We like to draw.

Nos gustan las clases de español e inglés. (nosotros)
We like Spanish class and English class.

No le gusta trabajar.
(usted, él, ella)
You don't like to work.
He/She doesn't like to work.

Les gusta el arte.
(ustedes, ellos, ellas)
You like art.
They like art.
